

ID: W2039300997

TITLE: A World Without Mangroves?

AUTHOR: ['Norman C. Duke', 'Jan?Olaf Meynecke', 'Sabine Dittmann', 'Aaron M. Ellison', 'Klaus Anger', 'Uta Berger', 'Stefano Cannicci', 'Karen Diele', 'Katherine C. Ewel', 'C. D. Field', 'Nico Koedam', 'S.Y. Lee', 'Cyril Marchand', 'Inga Nordhaus', 'Farid Dahdouh?Guebas']

ABSTRACT:

At a meeting of world mangrove experts held last year in Australia, it was unanimously agreed that we face the prospect of a world deprived of the services offered by mangrove ecosystems, perhaps within the next 100 years.

Mangrove forests once covered more than 200,000 km² of sheltered tropical

SOURCE: Science

PDF URL: None

CITED BY COUNT: 1270

PUBLICATION YEAR: 2007

TYPE: article

CONCEPTS: ['Mangrove', 'Geography', 'Fishery', 'Biology']