

ID: W2516907192

TITLE: Formation of the Isthmus of Panama

AUTHOR: ['Aaron O'Dea', 'H. A. Lessios', 'Anthony G. Coates', 'Ron I. Eytan', 'Sergio A. Restrepo-Moreno', 'Alberto Luis Cione', 'Laurel S. Collins', 'Alan de Queiroz', 'David W. Farris', 'Richard D. Norris', 'Robert F. Stallard', 'Michael O. Woodburne', 'Orangel Aguilera', 'Marie-Pierre Aubry', 'William A. Berggren', 'Ann F. Budd', 'Mário Alberto Cozzuol', 'Simon E. Coppard', 'Herman Duque-Caro', 'Seth Finnegan', 'Germán Mariano Gasparini', 'Ethan L. Grossman', 'Kenneth G. Johnson', 'Lloyd D. Keigwin', 'Nancy\xad Knowlton\xad', 'Egbert Giles Leigh', 'Jill S. Leonard-Pingel', 'Peter B. Marko', 'Nicholas D. Pyenson', 'Paola G. Rachello-Dolmen', 'Esteban Soibelzon', 'Leopoldo Héctor Soibelzon', 'Jonathan A. Todd', 'Geerat J. Vermeij', 'Jeremy B. C. Jackson']

ABSTRACT:

Independent evidence from rocks, fossils, and genes converge on a cohesive narrative of isthmus formation in the Pliocene.

SOURCE: Science advances

PDF URL: <https://advances.sciencemag.org/content/advances/2/8/e1600883.full.pdf>

CITED BY COUNT: 653

PUBLICATION YEAR: 2016

TYPE: article

CONCEPTS: ['Panama', 'Paleontology', 'Geology', 'Narrative', 'Evolutionary biology', 'Biology', 'Ecology', 'Art', 'Literature']